

From Our Blog

SECTION ANALYSIS

Purpose: A late-page trust section that shows this is an agency with real, ongoing published thinking — not just a portfolio and a contact form.

Target Audience: Visitors doing final research before reaching out, plus organic-search visitors who land directly on a specific article.

User Intent: Does this team actually understand the space, or is this just a services page with no real expertise behind it.

Business Goal: Offer a lower-commitment next step than "Contact Us" — reading an article costs a visitor less than filling a form, and it's an easier way to keep them on the site.

SEO Opportunity: Direct internal links into real, dated blog posts (title, author, publish date) — this is where the blog's own SEO value surfaces on the homepage and reinforces freshness signals to both visitors and crawlers.

Recommended CTA: Read More (per card, already linked to the real post via front.blog.details).

Design Psychology: The tablet-mockup format presents each post as a polished screen rather than a plain list, keeping this section visually consistent with Testimonials and the Team section elsewhere on the page.

Template Note: Already a live dynamic section (slug latest-blog-section). Its Label/Title/Subtitle content is currently empty in the database, so the page is falling back to the legacy static JSON text ("FROM OUR BLOG"). The blog cards themselves are already 100% real and database-driven — 19 active posts currently exist, with the 4 most recent shown here — so there's no fabrication risk on the card content, only the heading text below needs to be saved.

CONTENT (ENGLISH) — FINAL

Small Label: From The Blog

Main Heading: From Our Blog

Subtitle: Real topics from real project work — not filler content written to hit a keyword count.

EXPLANATION (HINGLISH)

Small Label — "From The Blog" simple hai aur directly section ka purpose bata deta hai, kuch extra sochne ki zaroorat nahi.

Main Heading — "From Our Blog" retain kiya kyunki yeh already clear aur standard hai — blog section ke liye clever heading likhne ka koi real fayda nahi tha, directness hi best choice hai.

Subtitle — "not filler content written to hit a keyword count" line ek real, specific claim hai jo generic "insights and updates" wali line se zyada trust-building hai — yeh directly us doubt ko address karti hai jo visitors ko aksar agency blogs pe hota hai (ki woh sirf SEO ke liye likhe gaye hain).

Template Note — Blog cards khud already 100% real hain (19 active posts, DB se), isliye yahan koi fabrication risk nahi — sirf heading text database mein save karna baaki hai.
