

Industries We Power

SECTION ANALYSIS

Purpose: Positioned as the case-study layer of the industries story. Where the earlier "Industries We Serve" grid establishes breadth, this carousel is meant to feel like documented project experience per vertical, not a second list of the same industries.

Target Audience: Visitors who already found their industry in the earlier grid and are now looking for evidence, not a second reassurance that the industry is on the list.

User Intent: Show me you've actually delivered results in my industry, not just that you're willing to take the project.

Business Goal: Push the visitor into "View Details" on their specific industry — a page built to carry real proof.

SEO Opportunity: Same industry entities as the earlier grid, but phrased around outcome/impact language rather than repeating "we serve X" verbatim, so the two sections read as complementary rather than duplicate content, to visitors and search engines alike.

Recommended CTA: View Details — already correctly wired to the industry detail route, unlike the earlier grid's placeholder link.

Design Psychology: The phone-mockup presentation itself signals "a real product, delivered on a real device," reinforcing the case-study feel through format, not just copy.

Template Note: Each card shows a static tag reading "Industry" (hardcoded in the blade file, not pulled from the database). Since this section is being repositioned toward a case-study feel, the recommended change is swapping that tag to "Case Study" — a one-line template edit, included below as part of the final content, happy to apply it on request. The underlying Industry data model only has name, image, description, and slug — no outcome or metric fields — so the per-card description text stays factual industry description rather than invented results or numbers. The repositioning is carried by the label, heading, subtitle, and tag, not by fabricated stats.

CONTENT (ENGLISH) — FINAL

Small Label (not yet wired — same limitation as earlier sections): Results By Industry

Main Heading: Industries We Power

Subtitle: Real project experience in your specific vertical — not a generic template with your industry's name swapped in.

Card Tag (recommended template change, replaces the static "Industry" label): Case Study

EXPLANATION (HINGLISH)

Small Label — "Results By Industry" isliye chosen kiya kyunki yeh outcome-focused language hai, jo case-study framing ke saath directly align karta hai — pichhle grid section ke "Where We've Worked" (jo purely past-experience pe tha) se clearly alag hai.

Main Heading — "Industries We Power" retain kiya kyunki "power" word "serve" se zyada active aur impact-driven feel deta hai. Yeh distinction pehle se code mein maujood tha, bas ab consciously use kiya gaya hai taaki dono industry sections ek jaise na lagein.

Subtitle — "not a generic template with your industry's name swapped in" line ek real, specific objection address karti hai jo har industry-specific visitor ke mann mein hoti hai — ki agencies sirf industry ka naam badal kar wahi generic paragraph reuse karti hain. Yeh honest aur relatable hai, generic "we deliver results" claim se kahin zyada convincing.

Card Tag — "Industry" ko "Case Study" mein badalna sirf ek chhota static-text change hai, lekin poora card visually case-study jaisa feel karayega bina koi fake data add kiye.

Template Note — Data model mein per-industry outcome ya metric fields exist nahi karte, isliye copy honest industry-description tak hi limited rakhi gayi hai — fake numbers add karna "zero fabricated stats" rule todega.
